

ENVIRONMENTAL POLICY

---

John Dennis Coachbuilders is the market leader in bodybuilding fire appliances in the UK and recognises the responsibility it has to the environment and is committed to a programme of continual improvement to minimize the effects of its activities on the environment. The company will establish, implement and maintain the necessary controls to ensure compliance with ISO 14001. We will continually measure our performance against this standard, and all legal and regulatory requirements, taking corrective action where appropriate in order to fulfill our environmental responsibilities.

The company will aim to:

- Identify the significant environmental impacts of our site's activities, and set objectives for their improvement appropriate to our control or influence.
- Introduce a process of setting targets against which our performance will be measured and monitored.
- Establish, maintain and comply with an up to date register of relevant legal, regulatory and other requirements which relate to our environmental aspects.
- Manage and develop existing and new activities and products so as to prevent pollution by reducing emissions, waste, and the consumption of natural resources.
- Ensure that processes are documented and subject to regular audit and senior management review.
- Encourage the suppliers and contractors who provide us with goods and services to follow the principles of environmental management.
- Ensure that this policy and the requirements of our environmental management system are communicated appropriately to all employees.
- Make this policy available to the public

.....
Alan McClafferty
Managing Director

.....
Nicholas Uwins
Sales and Engineering
Director

.....
David Dring
Financial Director

27th February 2008